All-glass element – more protection and light-flooded

A clear view and yet still protected:

The pergola awning weinor PergoTex II can be retrofitted with easy-glide sliding walls on all sides with little work. This provides you with added protection against the wind and weather. At the same time, the all-around transparency gives you the feeling of genuinely being outside.

Ease of operation:

The weinor easy-glide sliding wall is easy to open and close or to lock in place – depending on your personal wishes and the weather. Its intelligent actuator function ensures an exceptionally fast operation of all of the all-glass elements simultaneously.

Note: in combination with weinor PergoTex II, the all-glass elements have to be opened as far as possible with winds that have a wind strength of more than 6. weinor PergoTex II in combination with all-glass elements does not offer complete impermeability (e.g. in the event of driving rain or draughts).

Controlled rain drainage

weinor makes sure that you never get caught out in the rain. An intelligent water drainage construction guides the rain along the guttering, through the post and downwards.

The small fabric safety shield also provides for reliable water drainage with sideways gutters. A further benefit: the aluminium fabric safety shield is designed so that the noise made by the raindrops is kept as low as possible.

Simple electrical connection

Leads can be installed via the guttering and post. This means add-on products such as radiant heaters, garden lighting or water pumps can be supplied with electricity easily.
